TEMPERARY ESCORT BODY

Past Grand Master Whelan Delivers Eulogy to Memory of His Old School
Companion

With scores of prominent men from all over Wisconsin present to pay their last respects to his memory, William F. Wolfe, progressive democratic leader, well known barrister and United States attorney for the western district of Wisconsin, was laid to rest in Oak Grove mausoleum Saturday afternoon. The funeral cortege was escorted by the La Crosse commandery of Knights Templar, to which Mr. Wolfe belonged, and the public services were Masonic.

Not in many years, if ever, have so many people been drawn to the obsequies of a citizen of La Crosse, and to the democracy of "Billy" Wolfe there was the testament of that sad-eyed throng that gathered from every quarter of the city and every walk of life, to pay homage to his splendid manhood.

Whelan Gives Eulogy
Charles E. Whelan, Madison, past grand master of the state Masonic fraternity, and an old schoolfellow and lifelong friend of Mr. Wolfe, delivered a glowing eulogy to his memory, praising in simple but effective words the courage, devotion and high ideals of his friend, his loyalty to democracy in its broadest sense, and expressing the grief felt by all who knew him at his untimely death.

The beautiful Masonic burial services were conducted by John E. Langdon, chaplain, and the other officers of Frontier lodge No. 45, A. F. and A. M.

Services at Home
Simple religious services at the Wolfe home, Madison street, were conducted at 2 o'clock by Rev. Carlos C. Rowland, pastor of the First Congregational church. The service consisted just of a prayer, and a few words of comfort to Mr. Wolfe's sorrowing family from the pastor. Then the Templar commandery escorted the casket to the Masonic temple, where a throng which crowded the building was awaiting the public services. The platform of the Masonic hall was covered with a profusion of flowers, the tributes of friends from all over the United States to the memory of Mr. Wolfe.

Masonic officers were his active pallbearers, including Past Grand Master Whelan, B. F. Keer, Joseph S. Lennon, J. R. Moore, Joseph B. Fiske and A. C. Gran. The honorary pallbearers were a group of Mr. Wolfe's late colleagues of the bench and bar. Judge E. C. High, Judge John Brindley, Judge Clifton W. Hunt, President W. S. Burroughs of the bar association, C. L. Hod and Olaf H. Skarr. Members of the bar association attended in a box, and there were large delegations present at the funeral from the Elks, the Modern Woodmen and the E. V. U. fraternities, to which Mr. Wolfe belonged.

The three branches of the Masonic order in charge of the services at the temple escorted the body of Mr. Wolfe. Members of the Frontier lodge number 45, Smith Chapter number 12 and the La Crosse Commandery number 9 assembled at Eighth and Main in groups. Members of the La Crosse Bar association, together with visiting lawyers, friends of Mr. Wolfe, from all parts of the state met at the La Crosse Public library from which place the body was taken to the Masonic temple in

SMITH ORDINANCE TO GIVE SCALES
TO CITY SEALER

Sweeping Change Demanded by Law That Is Introduced at the Council
Friday

HE'S TO GET RECEIPTS

Sealer Is to Have Salary and All
Fees and Pay All Expenses
from His Own
Pocket

An ordinance proposing a sweeping change in the conduct of the city scales was given its first and second readings at the January meeting of the city council Friday evening. The ordinance, introduced by Alderman B. C. Smith, provides that the city sealer shall be the weighmaster. It turns over to him the office and duties of the city scales, with all the receipts of the office, from which the sealer is required to pay all expenses except repair of the building and equipment. Even light, heat and telephone bills are to come out of the sealer's private purse, according to the measure's terms.

The sealer, under the terms of the law, is to receive a salary of $1,800 yearly, in addition to all the fees of the office of weighmaster. He is to pocket all the receipts from weighing on the scales, and from scaling and inspecting wood. He is to make own appointments of deputies, and pay them out of his own pocket.

The city sealer at present receives a salary of $1,000 a year, with a $200 allowance for automobile upkeep. The motor-maintenance of $200 is also allowed in the proposed ordinance.

The bill was received without debate, and referred to committees after its first and second reading.

Paving Program Passes
The paving program outlined by the special council committee headed by Mayor Bentley went through without dissent. Thirty blocks of brick paving were ordered, and five blocks of asphalt macadam. The year's program will cost the city about $24,000. A large part of the improvements cost will be charged against the property owners of abutting land.

Demand was made by the La Crosse Trades and Labor Council for the institution of an eight-hour day for city employees, for a double platoon system in the fire department, and for a provision that motormen and conductors may not operate street cars before having had fifteen days' instruction. The council asked that its suggestions be referred to the charter revision committee, and taken before the state legislature if necessary. The communication was referred to the revision committee.

Five hundred dollars was asked for the repair of the Black River bridge, in conjunction with the Town of Campbell and the county by Alderman A. R. Schulze, chairman of the bridges committee. The matter was referred and will probably be passed at the next meeting.

Bath Project
What Alderman Grover explained as a shift to get started on a complete discussion of city bath projects was introduced by the north side in the shape of a resolution calling for plans and estimates for a fifty foot addition to the municipal bath house.

Mr. Grover had the matter referred, and said when the bath committee comes together, he will introduce a general discussion of the Woods' recreation center plan the north side bath, and other related topics.

Because Judge Cronon refused to qualify as justice of the peace in the Fourth ward, to which he was elected to succeed Judge Leonard Kleeber, A. E. Bleekman was chosen to the post.

A resolution was introduced by Alderman Grover asking a road from the rubber mills to the north end of North La Crosse. It was referred.

Alderman Rice introduced a resolution for an arc light at Island andanner streets.

Sending of Militia to Homes and

Part of New Policy

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—Following the final American-Mexican peace session Monday in New York, the administration will put into effect at an early date its new policies towards Mexico.

These policies consist of withdrawing General Pershing's column, relieving probably all the border militia and sending Ambassador Fletcher to Mexico City.

Fletcher, appointed months since to that position, has been drawing his $17,500 salary, but has never been sent to his post.

According to the president's program, official announcement to this effect would be forthcoming at the Monday financial session of the American Mexican peace commission in New York City.

Persons in touch with war department affairs felt confident that Pershing's troops will be on their way back to the border within two weeks.

When these forces have been distributed, the administration will start the militiamen toward home, March first is given as the outside date for clearing these men.

Proclamation By
Kaiser Recites
Allies' Failure

AMSTERDAM, Jan. 13.—The allies' purpose to crush Germany and enslave Europe is now made clear; but as they have failed in thirty months of bloody war and "unscrupulous economic" fighting to accomplish subjugation of the central powers, so will their future efforts fail.

Kaiser Wilhelm thus summed up his belief of the entente powers, position in a "proclamation to the German people," issued Saturday. In it he declared his people were "ready for all sacrifices" and asserted his confidence in "full victory over all the enemy's lust for power and rage for destruction."

NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—Lindley M. High Land South of Agricultural School Is Selected as Location for the Sanatorium

Committee on the Location

Following visits on Saturday to four proposed sites for the La Crosse county tuberculosis sanatorium, members of the special county board committee reached the conclusion that the location on the high land just south of the county agricultural school at Onalaska is best adopted for the cure.

The committeemen were accompanied on the tour by Dr. G. L. Bellis, superintendent of the Muredale, Milwaukee county sanatorium, and Dr. H. E. Dearholt, executive secretary of the Wisconsin Anti-tuberculosis association. The physicians, upon whom largely rested the determining of a site for the hospital, heartily favored the Onalaska location.

An adoption had been secured on the land prior to the visit on Saturday. It is believed that representatives of the state board of control who will visit La Crosse soon, will accept the site selected by the physicians and committeemen. An appropriation of $50,000 will be asked from the county board of supervisors at the board's next meeting.

SAYS I. C. C. CAN'T
SET INTRASTATE
PASSENGER RATES

Landis Makes Ruling in Denying Plea of Railroads for Injunction

CHICAGO, Jan. 13.—The interstate commerce commission cannot regulate intrastate passenger rates, fixed by state public utilities commissions, Federal Judge K. M. Landis ruled Saturday when he denied the railroads an injunction order restraining the Illinois state public utilities commission from interfering with operation of the interstate commerce commission order raising the Illinois intrastate passenger rate from 2 to 2.4 cents per mile.

Judge Landis held that the commission's finding that the rates between St. Louis and East St. Louis and Chicago were discriminatory gave the railroads two alternatives. One was to lower their intrastate rates and the other was to go before the public utilities commission or state legislature and have the intrastate rates boosted. They were granted permission to go before the legislature to secure the advanced rate, but not the privilege to enforce it in violation to state law.

"It is my opinion," Judge Landis said in his decision, "that there is no possible power vested in the interstate commerce commission under the guise of relieving St. Louis, or Keokuk, Iowa, to repeal the Illinois law in this case. The undoubted purpose and effect of the order to increase the intrastate rate would be to nullify the present state law, under which the railroads have operated for ten years."

Hints of incendiaryism in connection with the blaze which caused the explosions are many. James Lynch, superintendent of the plant, said the fire started in a "glazing barrel," a cylindrical piece of machinery in which powder is mixed with graphite to reduce the friction. From here, he said, it spread to a magazine in which was 400,000 pounds of smokeless powder to be used in cartridges for machine guns. This caused the big explosion, he stated.

Not a house in the village of Pompton Lakes has a whole window. As in the Black Tom and Kingsland explosions, company officials Saturday declared there was nothing about the blow-up to indicate a plot.

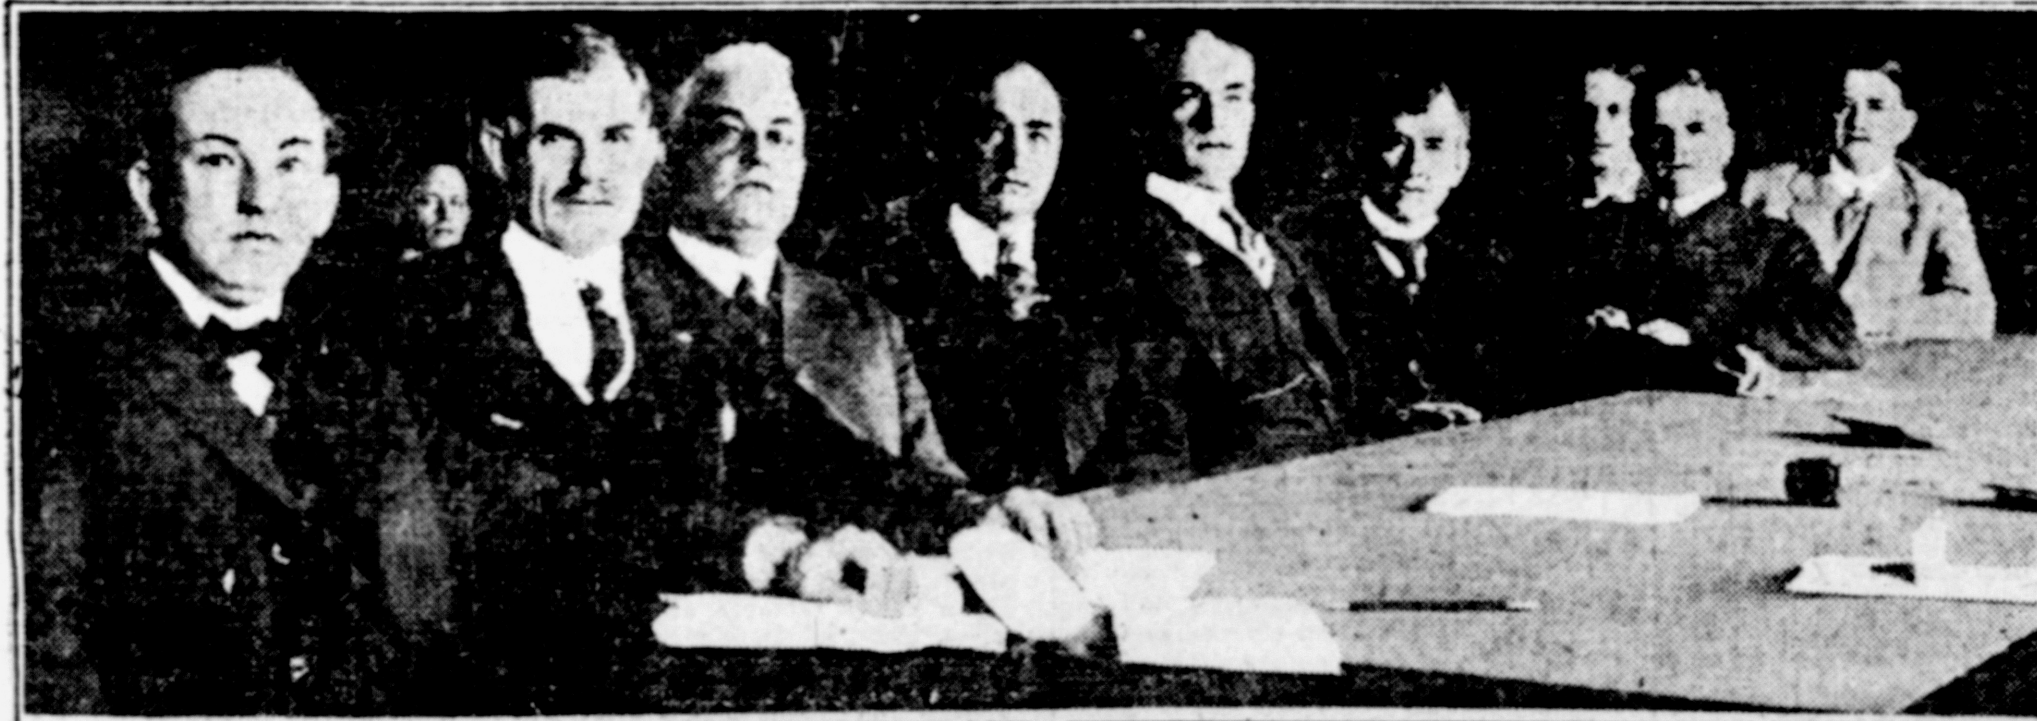

The Dupont officials began a thorough investigation of the explosion at Haskell, but so far have declined to say whether they consider it was accidental or incendiary.

Twenty-five explosions have occurred in this plant since the company began making munitions for the allies, but in each instance officials in charge have insisted that they were accidental.

Confirming estimates of $12,000,000 loss in connection with the destruction of the Canadian Car and Foundry company's plant at Kingsland, N. J., President Perry of the company, issued a statement Saturday saying the total loss to the company, after insurance has been paid, will be under $1,000,000.

Nearly $5,000,000 of the loss will fall upon the Russian government, he said, because that much of the product had been delivered. Insurance on the plant amounted to about $2,250,000.

"I believe in enforcing laws rather than putting new ones on the books," said the alderman before he introduced his first ordinance.

It was a measure providing for paying city employees on the first and fifteenth of each month.

He believes strongly also in coast defense types.

Sues for Watch

Harry Wetmore of Patch Grove found a watch some weeks ago, and made inquiries as to the owner, but didn't advertise in a newspaper. He failed to find the owner, and recently lost the watch.

The owner, D. W. Lawrence of Bos-cobel, heard of the find and loss, and failing to make a settlement with Wetmore, brought suit. The local justice of the peace rendered a personal judgment for $15. This judgment, which was not asked by the plaintiff, is considered too severe by Wetmore, who will try to have it set aside by process of law.

Longfellow and Tennyson.

Longfellow and Tennyson were not personal friends of long standing, but they became friends late in life. Longfellow was born February 27, 1807, and Tennyson August 6, 1809, but they never met until 1858, when Longfellow visited England. Writing from there to a friend in this country he said: "We came last night from Freshwater where we had passed two happy days with Tennyson—not at his house, but mostly with him. He was very cordial and very amiable and gave up his whole time to us."

Most Precious Thing.

Sweet is the destiny of all trades, whether of the brow or of the mind God never allowed any man to do nothing. How miserable is the condition of those men which spend the time at 12 if they were given them, and not lent; as if hours were waste creatures and such as should never be accounted for; as if God would take this for a good bill of reckoning.—Bishop Hall.

Startling Preference.

Forrest had just started to school and was shy toward his teacher, so she selected a lesson about a dog and endeavored to get some expression from him. She talked about the dog in the picture, told him that she liked a big, curly, black dog best and then asked what kind of dog he liked best. She was considerably surprised when he answered, "Green ones."

A CHILD DOESN'T LAUGH AND PLAY IF CONSTIPATED

If peevish, feverish and sick, give "California Syrup of Figs."

Mother! Your child isn't naturally cross and peevish. See if tongue is coated; this is a sure sign its little stomach, liver and bowels need a cleansing at once.

When listless, pale, feverish, full of cold, breath bad, throat sore, doesn't eat, sleep or act naturally, has stomach-ache, diarrhoea, remember, a gentle liver and bowel cleansing should always be the first treatment given.

Nothing equals "California Syrup of Figs" for children's ills; give a teaspoonful, and in a few hours all the foul waste, sour bile and fermenting food which is clogged in the bowels passes out of the system, and you have a well and playful child again. All children love this harmless, delicious "fruit laxative," and it never fails to effect a good "inside" cleansing. Directions for babies, children of all ages and grown-ups are plainly on the bottle.

Keep it handy in your home. A little given today saves a sick child tomorrow, but get the genuine. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," then look and see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company."

May Give Liberty to Alleged Thaw Aide If He "Coughs Up"

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Jan. 13.—Freedom, for evidence and testimony that will send Harry K. Thaw, erratic Pittsburgh millionaire, now recovering from self inflicted wounds in this city, back to Matteawan or prison, is the swap the district attorney's office in New York will offer Oliver A. Brower and Walter O'Byrne, it was learned on good authority here Saturday.

Brower is now held awaiting extradition papers from New York, where he is charged with having conspired with Thaw to kidnap 19-year-old Frederick Gump, Jr. O'Byrne is under indictment on the same charge, but police have failed to locate him.

Assistant District Attorney Black of New York declares the state now has sufficient evidence to convict Thaw.

Thaw's condition showed a slight improvement Saturday, it was announced at St. Mary's hospital. Physicians are practically certain now that he did not swallow poison tablets.

SOLONS GET KNIVES AND FOUNTAIN PENS

MADISON, Wis., Jan. 13.—Every member of the legislature has been given a jack-knife and a fountain pen. These are among the necessities which the state gives to the members of the legislature in addition to salaries. Besides this under a resolution which has been adopted by each house, each member will be furnished 500 sheets of letterhead paper bearing his address and 500 envelopes.

Same Old Stuff.

A letter from a Babylonian master to his servant 2,200 years before Christ, has been translated at the University of Pennsylvania. An accurate report of its contents has not yet reached this office, but this is the tenor of it: "My Good Man: Owing to the present high prices in raw materials, and incidentally the consequent expenses of operation, it is impossible at present to give you the increase in salary you asked for. Do not despair, however. Good service never goes unrewarded.—The Boss."

To Keep Plants Fresh.

There is a simple way to water ferns and flowers which will be of interest to one who must leave them for a time without care. Take a washing tub and place three or four bricks in it and put about two inches of water in the tub. Place the flowers on these bricks and place the tub where they can get the morning sunshine.

DR. WALTER WITTICH COMES TO THE STATE NORMAL SCHOOL HERE

Son of Famous Milwaukee Man Comes to La Crosse as Physical Educator

A new assistant in the physical education department at the State Normal school is to take up his duties with the opening of the new semester in two weeks. He will not take Dr. Carl B. Sputh's place, will be engaged as an additional faculty member which was granted the department by the normal regents some time ago. The fifth member of the physical education department is Mr. Walter Wittich, son of the famous George Wittich, head of the department of physical education in the Milwaukee public schools who addressed the normal student body last year.

Mr. Wittich is a graduate of the University of Wisconsin. He graduated from Sargent, was head of the normal N. A. G. U. and has had two years of medicine which ably fits him for his position in the La Crosse school.

It was announced by President F. A. Cotton on Saturday that Gustav Heinemann will assume the duties of Dr. Sputh following his departure on February 1 until a suitable man is obtained for the permanent leadership of the department. Mr. Heinemann will have under his supervision until the new head arrives Mr. Wittich in the men's work and Miss Leonora Thompson and Miss Magdalene Harmacek in the women's field.

It was also definitely made known on Saturday that Raymond Keeler, up to this time assistant coach of athletics, will have full charge of the athletic coaching for the remainder of the term and up to the time the new man, as yet unselected, arrives.

Albert Meinert of the physical education department, and captain of the normal basketball team this year, left at noon on Saturday for Oshkosh where on Monday he will take up his duties at the normal school in that city as head of the department of physical education.

AN IMPORTANT REVERSAL

Governor Philipp's message is calculated to attract especial attention because it bears no resemblance to former ill-considered and opportunistic official utterances from the same source. On the whole its tone is progressive, although there are outcroppings of the old stalwart sentiment. Of all its ten thousand words, these are best calculated to rivet the attention of the reader who has followed Wisconsin politics:

In view of the growing demand for public improvements, all of which will necessitate the expenditure of large sums of money, the state can not afford to reduce its revenues.

It would be quite the human thing for progressives to twit the governor with this evidence that he has joined the "tax-eaters", but shall we not rather be pleased at indications that the governor has found that "service" is the big, the essential thing in government, and that "economy" means spending money wisely, not saving money foolishly? Responsibility tends to make men responsible. A "once over" of Governor Philipp's message suggests improvement in the man. As the specific details of his program unfold, it will be possible to determine what is all wool, and what shoddy; what is solid material, and what veneered.

JOBS FOR MEN OF FIFTY

Several wealthy Chicago citizens have formed an association for the purpose of giving the man past middle age a square deal. They recognize that this is "the young man's day", but are not content to leave it so.

An effort will be made to check the practice of shoving sober, intelligent, experienced men aside in favor of inexperienced youngsters. Not that there is any antagonism to young men. They will be given their chance. But the reformers are going to insist that a young man shall not get an old man's place merely because he's younger—that there shall be fairer competition, and something more than mere years shall count in the test.

The committee has established a bureau and issued a general appeal to Chicago business men. The members believe that they can obtain jobs for thousands of men from 45 to 65 who at present are out of work or who might make good in better positions than they now hold.

It is time that such a movement was started. The so-called Osler theory, that a man isn't good for anything after he reaches forty, has done vast harm. It has resulted in cruel injustice to tens of thousands of individuals, and has robbed society of the services of great numbers of specialists dropped in their prime to make room for youngsters.

Man's age limit has been greatly extended. So has his possible working limit. It has taken the European war to show the true value of rugged age and ripe experience. Most of the military leaders who have won distinguished success have been over sixty. Several of them are more than seventy. There is hardly a general or a statesman prominent in the conflict who is under fifty. In the greatest crisis of history European nations entrust their destiny to men whose age alone would automatically bar them from employment in nine out of ten American business houses.

True business efficiency alone would demand that we stop our foolish discrimination against the gray-haired man.

"PORK BAR'L" VS. FEDERAL SALARIES

The congressional plan to raise the pay of several thousand federal employes meets with general approval. The support given the measure by the American Federation of Labor is typical of the national attitude. About the only criticism heard is that so obvious an act of justice was not undertaken sooner.

Departmental clerks in general have not received a raise for many years. Meanwhile the value of the dollar has steadily lessened. If their salaries were ever liberal, they have certainly not been so since the war. They are the last important group of American workers to benefit by the general rise of wage-levels under the stimulus of war-prosperity and war-prices, and the increases contemplated are less than most other workers have obtained. The relief provided is rendered all the more tardy by the fact that the raises will not go into effect until the beginning of the next fiscal year. The beneficiaries will wait about eight months more for an economic adjustment that should have been already made.

It is strange how congress always fears to vote such salary increases. They cost money, to be sure. But they cost incomparably less than the pork barrel bills put through at nearly every session. Congressional leaders are said to be figuring, even now, on a public buildings measure that will devote to construction of dubious value and self-evident extravagance more than enough money to raise Uncle Sam's whole pay-roll to a level of just and respectable compensation.

WHY NOT THE STATE CABINET SYSTEM?

There is a great deal to commend the suggestion made by Governor Philipp in his annual message, that our governors be elected for four instead of two years, and that instead of present state officers there shall be a cabinet appointed by the governor.

The "customary second term" makes it practically certain that every governor will serve four years, so why the fuss and feathers of a biennial election? And isn't it altogether possible that an appointive cabinet to deal with the major departments would lead to better co-operation and improved service?

Of course we can't get away from the fact that a bad governor with a bad cabinet would be worse than a bad governor with elective department heads who might check the executive's evil course, but conversely, a good governor with an appointive cabinet would be far better than a good governor and elective department heads who might hamper the good work of the executive. But, if democracy is not a failure, we have a right to expect that, in the main, our governors will be of the right sort; hence are we interested in the kind of machinery that is most effective in the hands of a good executive.

Some Don't Get Back
The dusky tennorial artist nervously busied himself among his implements of torture as the tired business man sank into the operating chair and prepared to rest while his stubble was being removed. The barber tucked in the ample bib, lathered the passive face and opened his conversational batteries.
"Ah, just got back from a funeral," ventured the ebony one as a starter.
The tired B. M. opened one eye, cleared the lather out of the corner of his mouth and in a biting tone retorted:
"You ought to be blamed glad to get back—a good many people don't."
And the shave continued amidst a profound silence.

This Day in History
Thirty-five years ago today a man in Chattanooga was still taking seriously one of his New Year's resolutions.

A Suspicion
"Why is George Washington described as 'First in war and first in peace'?"
"I dunno," replied Senator Sorghum. "I suspect somebody was trying to square him with both the preparedness people and the pacifists."—Washington Star.

All Rich
"I understand Dr. Ganerby has a great many wealthy patients."
"Yes, indeed. Why, he thinks nothing of ordering ten or fifteen to Palm Beach in the course of a single day."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

Hard to Say
Passenger—"What makes the train run so slow?"
Irate Conductor—"If you don't like it you can get off and walk."
Passenger—"I would, only I am not expected until train time."—Squib.

Bird of an Argument
"I think all telegraph and telephone wires should be put underground," said the man with long hair.
"Why, I thought you were head of the Audubon society," replied the telegraph man.
"So I am."

Where on earth, then, do you suppose the poor birds are to roost if deprived of the wires?—Yonkers Statesman.

Double Proof
A tramp knocked at a farmer's door and called for something to eat.
"Are you a Christian?" asked the good-hearted man.
"Look at the holes worn in the knees of my pants. What do they prove?"
The farmer's wife promptly brought out the food and the tramp turned to go.
"Well, well!" asked the farmer. "What made those holes in the back of your pants?"
"Backsliding," replied the tramp as he hurried on.

Rather Demoralizing
"Are you still thinking about buying a motor car?"
"Yes. It doesn't cost me anything to think about buying one."
"Don't you fool yourself. When a man gets an idea like that he's liable to neglect his business."

Music hath charms to soothe the savage breast, but the breast which isn't savage usually becomes nawkish.

OTHER PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

She opened her eyes and looked at him. After her two weeks' absence, their longest separation in twenty years, she saw him almost as a stranger would have done, a slight, undersized man with a bulging forehead which told of nature's generous endowments, and the weak chin, explaining his failure to measure up to the promise of his youth. His disheveled hair and burning eyes gave an unprepossessing touch to the picture. But the maternal feeling, always uppermost where her brother was concerned, had been intensified by the children's advent. Persis felt for the moment the indulgent disapproval of a mother toward an unreasonable child.

"Why, Joel?" Her voice, with its new depth and richness, caressed the name it uttered. "What's foolish about it?"
The gentleness of her answer misled him. He felt a sudden thrilling conviction of his ability to bring her to terms.
"What's foolish about it? What ain't foolish, you'd better say. Looks to me as if you'd taken leave of your senses. Filling up the house with pauper brats."
The blood went out of her face. The smile lingered, but it had become merely a muscular contraction, like the smile on dead lips. The soul had left it.

"Yes," she said steadily. "It's true they're poor. But it's not for you to fling that in their faces. A man who's lived on his sister's earnings for twenty years."

He was dumb for a moment, wincing under the taunt but lacking words to answer. He was not without reasonable qualities, and reason told him he had taken the wrong track. The change in his voice when he spoke again would have seemed ludicrous had she been in a mood to be amused.
"See here, Persis, you've got a chance now to take things easy. You have worked hard," he admitted patronizingly, "and you've earned the right to enjoy the rest of your life. Now, see how silly 'twould be to saddle yourself with looking after a pack of children. It's no joke, I can tell you; bringing up five young ones, nursing 'em through measles and whooping-cough and the Lord knows what, and never being sure whether they'll turn out good or bad. Maybe you think I'm prejudiced, but I'll bet you anything you like that at this minute half Cleopatra is wondering whether you're clean crazy or what."

Under his conciliatory address her first anger had cooled. A little half-contemptuous smile curled her lips.
"It's a funny thing, Joel, you've known me for quite a spell—thirty-seven years, the sixth of October—and you haven't found out yet that I'm not looking for an easy time. My idea of Heaven ain't a place where you can sit down and fold your hands."

"I s'pose you'd rather stick at home and fuss over other folks' children than travel. You used to be crazy about foreign places, Russia and Italy and Egypt." Joel's eyes kindled with an unholy light as he repeated the magic names. A bystander might have been reminded of another tempter showing the kingdoms of the earth as a lure.
"Time enough to travel," Persis said laconically, "when my family is raised."

"Giving up all the peace of your home, all the quiet—"
"Stillness isn't peace, Joel. There is quiet enough in the grave, if that's what you're after. I don't want the hush of the tomb around here. I want little feet tripping up and down and little voices calling. Seems to me as if this old house had come alive since I brought these children into it. And I've come alive myself. It's what I always wanted, a family of children. I gave it up like I've given up so many things, but I've got it at last, thank God."

"Persis," Joel remonstrated in shocked accents, "it's not becoming for a single woman to say things like that. Wanting children, indeed. If you weren't my sister I shouldn't know what to make of such talk."

She leaned toward him, her hands on her knees. Her gray eyes, warmed almost to blue by joy and tenderness, were steely as she faced him.
"Joel, you don't take it into account that the Almighty didn't make old maids. He made us just women, and the hunger for children is nothing more to be ashamed of than the longing for food and drink. I'm not accusing Him either, when I say that life isn't fair to a lot of us. It hangs other people's burdens on our backs, and they weigh us down till we have not the strength to take what is rightfully ours. These children had ought to be mine. My blood ought to be in their veins. It's too late for that, but it's not too late for everything. What would Aunt Persis Ann's money be worth to me if all it meant was that I could fix up the house and leave off making dresses for other folks and travel around and see the world? It's done more than that. It's made up to me for being cheated out of my rights. It's made me a woman at last."

Upstairs sounded a piercing wail, a sharp little note, fretful the quiet evening with its suggestion of discomfort or alarm. In an instant Persis was on her feet. Again her face was luminous. Suffused with a transforming tenderness, it lost its stern lines and became radiantly youthful. Blue misty shadows veiled the steely light of her eyes.
"The baby's crying," she said, and left him swiftly. And Joel, with a bewildered sense of enlightenment carried to the point of dazzling ef-

NEWS NOTES from MOVIELAND

"The Bride of Hate" is the title of the newest picture in which Frank Keenan and Margery Wilson are starred. The story is laid in Louisiana before the war, when yellow fever was a constant menace and slavery a commonplace.

Keenan takes the part of Dr. Dudley Duprez, a well known Louisiana physician. His beautiful but wayward niece, Rose Duprez, is seduced by Paul Crenshaw, a friend of the doctor, and to prevent her shame from becoming known, Rose kills herself. Dr. Duprez learns her secret and determines to make Crenshaw expiate his crime. While traveling on a Mississippi river steamer, the doctor wins Mercedes, a beautiful slave, at cards. He takes her home, and passing her off as a distant relative, arranges it so that Crenshaw falls in love with the girl. A wedding is arranged, and immediately after the ceremony Dr. Duprez announces to the assembled guests that Mercedes is a slave and that he considers he has punished Crenshaw sufficiently by making him "the husband of a nigger."

A yellow fever epidemic breaks out shortly after, and Crenshaw is shot when attempting to evade the quarantine. Dr. Duprez is told by a dying overseer from the plantation where Mercedes was born that the girl is of Spanish and American ancestry without a drop of negro blood in her veins, and had been made a slave through a conspiracy. The doctor returns home, confesses his wrong to Mercedes, and is forgiven by her. In the end they are married.

MUSH

Mush is a soft, flabby material frequently used as food and sometimes as conversation. It is found in most pantries and many heads. As food, mush is admirable; but no man should use it otherwise unless he loves the girl and intends to marry her. Mush should never be mixed with anything but milk and true love. Some folks say mush is a vegetable. Others say it's a desert. But anyone who has bought any lately knows what it is. It's a luxury. Mush is queer stuff. It has to be mixed the day before and allowed to sit and think about itself all night before it's fit to eat. But that's all right. That's fine. It proves that mush is a shrewd, calculating food with a lot of good common sense. It is deliberate. It waits till next morning to decide. Can you imagine a Bronx cocktail doing that?

TO BE SMART YOU MUST BE PRODIGAL WITH STITCHERY

Fashion Decrees That Much Stitching Shall Ornament the Newest Frocks, Suits and Wraps

BY MARGARET MASON
Grandma said she dropped a stitch; I didn't see it fall—I've hunted for it everywhere And can't find it at all.

Grandma says she's picked it up; I didn't see her do it. I guess old folks are pretty spry If only we just knew it.

NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—For goodness sake, if you drop a stitch be sure to pick it up again, for you will need them all. The newest and smartest suits, frocks and wraps are a mass of stitching up one side and down the other.

Don't for a minute think you can escape having a stitch in the side for if you are very chic you will have them in both sides and in front and back as well. The old adage, a stitch in time saves nine, must go in the discard, for who wants to save nine now when Fashion decrees that to be really smart you must be simply prodigal with stitches.

"Stitch, stitch, stitch," began "The Song of the Shirt," but now it is the beginning and the end also of every swagger article of wearing apparel. Of course it is the French who have stitched us up in this mad fashion and they have decreed that the stitching must be done either in bright and vari-colored contrasting hues or in a tone darker than the material on which the stitches are taken.

Wide bands of stitching run around the bottoms, checker board designs of stitching run criss-cross on a blouse, stitching running around sleeves and up and down "em and stitching running up and down a skirt in stripes or running around it is the thing. No matter which way you turn you run into these omnipresent stitches somewhere in the running. Strange to say, however, every stitch is not a running stitch by no means. No indeed for there is the back stitch that has come very much to the front. Feather stitching is being let down easy but on light and fluffy effects is sometimes used; and as for cat stitching you will find it very nice on pussywillow taffetas.

Briar stitching always is up to the scratch and in spite of its name you'll never look seedy in seed stitch. There isn't a shadow of doubt but that the shadow stitch is not to be put in the shade by any other stitch and the chain stitch is sure to link you closely to the mode.

The French knot stitch is knotty but nice and the darning stitch is always well worn. The loop stitch is used in the best circles and there are no flies on the cowweb stitch. You come across the cross stitch across lots of blouses and the cable stitch is naturally the very last word in stitches.

The outline stitch is right in line with all the best stitches and lots of the girls have fastened their fancy on the buttonhole stitch. Nor does Fashion lay down on the job when it comes to the couching stitch, so you see the long and short stitch of it that any stitch at all is good.

Plain stitching of course is really the most swagger on the tailored suits and wraps and straight bands, cross bars and zigzags of the stitching and sweeping curves are the favored designs. No other trimming is used with the stitching save a few buttons and a touch of fur. Since it would seem stress is to be laid on the stitching as a trimming for the rest of the winter and spring the seamstress is a very busy person indeed these days. Both she and the surgeon are adept at taking stitches and they both stitch you and trim you at the very same time.

1916 Was Women's Year in World Of Literature

According to William Bartlett Maurice, editor of the Bookman, 1916 in literature was emphatically a woman's year. Mrs. Gene Stratton-Porter's "Michael O'Halloran" was the most widely read book of the early months, giving place to the late Jean Webster's "Dear Enemy," while a dramatization of an earlier work by the same author, "Daddy Long-Legs," was one of the most popular plays of the year. Eleanor H. Porter, author of "Pollyanna," added "Just David" to her collection of laurels, a young brother of the Glad Girl who bids fair to rival her in popular approval. Other emphatic feminine successes in American literature were Mary Roberts Rinehart's "K." Ellen Glasgow's "Life and Gabriella," and Kathleen Norris's "The Heart of Rachael." In England, two of the notable novels of the year were also by women, Mrs. Humphrey Ward's "Lady Constance," and Mrs. Belloc-Lowndes' "Good Old Anna."

PARALLEL OF MODEL MURDER UNCOVERED IN COLUMBUS HOTEL

Girl from Prominent Philippi, W. Va., Family Found Dead with Throat Slashed and Bullet Wound on Head

SUSPECT IS ARRESTED

Man Wanted on Embezzlement Charge Admits He Signed as Man in Whose Room the Body Was Found

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Jan. 13.—A girl murder mystery, similar to the case of Maudie Colbert, Philadelphia's artist's model, is puzzling the local police.

Mona Simon, 25 years old, said to be a member of a prominent family of Philippi, W. Va., is the murder victim, her body having been found in a room of the Deshler hotel shortly after noon on Friday. Her throat was slashed and there was a bullet wound in the back of her head.

The man who occupied the room had registered as "G. V. Van Brunt of Chicago," but a local sporting writer told the police Thursday night he knew the man who occupied the room in which the girl was found and he had told him he was going under the name of "Van Brunt" here because of a "girl scrape" he was in in Kansas City.

Columbus police Saturday left for Huntington, Ind., where Weldon H. Wells of Kansas City, was arrested early in the day on an embezzlement charge made in Kansas City.

Wells is wanted for investigation in connection with the killing of Mona Simon.

Wells will be brought back to Columbus by Detective Sergeant Peter Albanese.

An affidavit charging Wells with first degree murder was filed Saturday by Albanese.

Police believe the woman was killed last Thursday night. Had a maid employed at the hotel showed a little more curiosity, the police say they would have been on the case earlier. The maid is said to have found the door unlocked at 7 a. m. Friday and entered. Seeing the woman lying on the floor beside the bed, she concluded she was intoxicated and left the room, it was said.

A little village choir girl who was attracted by the big city's bright lights—who followed its primrose path to her death.

That's the life story of Mona Simon.

Pind Damaging Evidence

HUNTINGTON, Ind., Jan. 13.—Police questioned Weldon H. Wells, arrested here Friday as a suspect in connection with the murder of Mona Simon at a Columbus, Ohio, hotel. Police claim they found blood-stained handkerchiefs and a revolver with three empty cartridges in Wells' suitcase.

Wells, according to the police, denies knowing anything of the murder, but admits he registered under the assumed name of "Van Brunt" at the Deshler hotel, where the girl was killed. He declared stains on his undershirt were paint and not blood.

Wells is confident he will be able to prove his innocence by an alibi, he told Chief of Police Baker Saturday.

Took Firm Checks

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Jan. 13.—Weldon H. Wells, Kansas City man held in Huntington, Ind., on a charge of embezzlement, and who is believed to be connected with the murder of Mona Simon in a Columbus, Ohio, hotel, left Kansas City on January 4, according to his employers, here Saturday.

Wells left the firm of Ward Brothers wholesale produce company, taking several checks belonging to the concern, Charles Ward, a member of the firm said.

That Wells is insane, is the belief of his mother, Mrs. C. D. Benfer, in a statement made here Saturday. "I believe Weldon has been mentally deranged for the past two years," Mrs. Benfer said. According to the mother, she and her husband have engaged an attorney to defend Wells in Columbus.

Wife of Son of Justice Winslow Not With Husband

CHICAGO, Jan. 13.—Mrs. Rosalind Guggenheim Punch Winslow is living apart from her husband, according to Mrs. Frank Mayer of Chicago, a sister of Mrs. Winslow. Her friends and relatives said Saturday that her reason for living apart from her husband, Horatio Winslow, is a disagreement over the problems of psycho-analysis, a study of the relation of the soul and mind.

Mrs. Winslow first became known through her publication of "Letters of a South Dakota divorcee." These spicy, racy comments on the life of a woman who is awaiting the time limit until she obtains her divorce, were written when the authoress was living in a colony at Sioux Falls, S. D., awaiting a divorce from her then husband, Jack Punch, of St. Louis.

After the divorce Mrs. Punch met Horatio Winslow, son of Justice J. B. Winslow of the supreme court of Wisconsin. Horatio was just graduated from the University of Wisconsin.

body to view the remains. Neither the Modern Woodmen of America nor the Elks, which Mr. Wolfe had just recently joined, marched but large numbers from these orders were present at the services. A special reservation of seats at the temple was made for members of the La Crosse state normal school faculty, their wives and husbands.

Flags at Half-Mast

Flags all over the city were half-masted during the ceremonies, the city hall setting the example. At the council meeting last night Alderman Burt C. Smith gave a short tribute to Mr. Wolfe, declaring the city bereaved of one of its foremost and best beloved citizens. At his suggestion, the city flag was flown at half-mast, and the city hall closed Saturday afternoon. Most of the aldermen and city officials attended the funeral.

From out of the city there was a large representation of the most prominent men in Wisconsin. Democrats and republicans alike came to pay their last respects to the memory of the man who was one of the best known and most liked and respected of all men in politics in Wisconsin. The legislature of the state was represented by three senators and a like number of assemblymen, who were officially named to represent the government of the commonwealth in the last honors paid to Mr. Wolfe. Senators Seogmo, Jennings and Barwig, with Assemblymen Nordeman, Spoor and Rappel arrived in La Crosse Friday night, leaving Madison immediately upon their appointment by the speakers of the two houses.

Many From Milwaukee

Other prominent men were present in number. There was a delegation of more than a dozen leading Milwaukeeans, prominent on the bench and at the bar, and men of political note from all over the state were numerous.

Among those who were present were the two brothers of Senator Paul O. Hustung of Mayville, Judge Adolph Schmitz, Milwaukee; Burt Williams, Ashland; Nathan Glicksmann, Milwaukee; C. H. Weiss, Milwaukee; W. H. Timlin, Jr., Milwaukee; C. E. Whelan, Madison; Phil S. Dickinson, Appleton; Edward G. Dempsey, Oshkosh; F. P. O'Connor, Madison; Arthur Muhlberger, Madison, and many others.

Senator Hustung, who had been expected, was unable to leave Washington in time to reach La Crosse for the funeral.

Hold Memorial Services

On next Tuesday morning during the chapel exercise period at the normal school, students and faculty will co-operate in a memorial service for Mr. Wolfe, resident regent of the school.

The program on Tuesday will consist of addresses by President F. A. Cotton and Professor A. H. Sanford of the normal faculty, together with special music which has been arranged for the occasion. A large floral design from the normal students was sent to the Wolfe home Saturday morning.

Court House Closes

Out of respect to the memory of Mr. Wolfe, all offices in the county court house closed promptly at noon on Saturday, the officials attending the funeral in the afternoon. Circuit court was not opened on Saturday.

The sixty employees of the Burlington railroad at St. Paul who were to have paraded the streets of La Crosse Saturday afternoon in a "booster" demonstration in the interest of the St. Paul Winter Carnival, have postponed the event on account of the funeral of Mr. Wolfe.

Mary, who recites her prayers aloud each evening, remembering her parents' neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. Baker, and the man who sells the goodies at the corner store does so in the following manner: "God bless daddy, mamma, Mizer Baker, Mizzy Baker, and the other baker, too."

Just Between Themselves

Maudie Elizabeth, not quite three years old, had been told by her grandpa that he would give her a Shetland pony if she would be his girl. After she went home she was in the barn with her daddy, who was milking the cows, when she said to him, "Daddy, I am yours and mother's girl, too, but you will keep it a secret."

RELIEF COMMITTEE WINDS UP AFFAIRS HAS SMALL BALANCE

Final Report Made Public of Association Which Cared for Soldiers' Families

HELPED 47 HOMES

Committee Dispensed Money Collected from Practically All Employers in the City

COMPANY M'S THANKS

"La Crosse, Jan. 8, 1917. The La Crosse Patriotic Protective Association, City.

"Gentlemen: "While away we realized in a very tangible manner the value of the work you have done for the families of the men who went from this city for border service. All anxiety about the folks at home was removed. This was an immense burden removed from our shoulders.

"Since our return I have had an opportunity to look into the workings of your society. The businesslike way in which it has been conducted and the splendid support it has received have so impressed me that I regard it as one of the most important achievements of this border service.

"The heart of La Crosse is right and its business men have done all the fine things they said they would do and more.

"In behalf of the members of company M I wish to extend to you our sincere thanks and appreciation.

"Very sincerely, "F. H. FOWLER, "Capt. 3rd. Wis. Inf."

The La Crosse Patriotic Protective Association has gone out of business, concluding one of the finest of La Crosse's civic experiences.

The association collected $4,459.85, disbursed $4,434.47 as soldiers' pay, and upon motion of C. S. Van Auker turned its bank balance, amounting to $25.38 over to the Associated Charities.

Helped 47 Families

Soldiers' wages were made good to forty-seven families, over a period from June 19 to December 22, when the last payment was made. Employers contributed at the rate of fifteen cents per month per employee on their payrolls. During the entire period but two employers permitted their pledges to lapse. In addition, there were a number of regular cash donations.

A vast amount of work was done in organizing the association and administering its plans. That of organization and starting left heavily upon the shoulders of Chairman D. W. MacWillie, while C. S. Van Auker and E. L. Colman bore most of the extensive details of administration.

Appreciation of the services of the association was shown by many messages from the front during the service period, and upon the return of the troops Captain Herman Rupp acknowledged the splendid services in a public statement, while a letter from Captain F. H. Fowler, to the association, appears herewith. But that which most pleased the association members was the great number of militiamen who, upon their return, made special trips to Treasurer Van Auker's office to give personal expression to their gratification.

The report, together with verification by W. J. Fries, who at the request of Mr. Van Auker, audited the books, follows:

WEBSTER, Jan. 13.—By an almost unanimous vote the people of Webster have decided to incorporate as a village.

Why Shivering Warm Us

Some might doubt that shivering on a cold day would make anyone warm, but it is true that the spasmodic quivering of the muscles, called shivering, causes a flow of blood and thereby generates warmth. No one ever shivers until his body is extremely cold. It is a nervous protest on the part of the flesh, due to acute discomfort that has reached the brain and been reacted. But the moment shivering begins the muscles work involuntarily and the body begins to produce heat.

Rejuvenating Rubber

Rubber that has lost its elasticity may be rejuvenated, according to the Journal de Pharmacie et de Chimie, by immersing it for five minutes in a bath of glycerin mixed with 25 times its volume of distilled water and heated to 70 degrees centigrade and then drying it with filter paper.

No, This Isn't The Icy Abode of an Arctic Eskimo; It's the Igloo of an Austrian Soldier on East Front

The photo shows the soldier's hut or igloo on the eastern front, in which the warrior will reside until the return of spring and the reopening of active operations. These huts are similar to the Eskimo igloo and like the Eskimo abode furnish ample protection against the Arctic winter of that region. The soldiers in the photograph are Austrians.

BRITISH EDITORIALS ATTACK GERMAN NOTE

LONDON, Jan. 13.—British editorial comment Saturday turned from its fulsome phrases of praise of the allied note to bitterest denunciation of Germany's latest appeal for neutral sympathy, made in the note published Friday.

"Berlin's delicious comment" remarked the Daily Mail, "is a mixture of whines and falsehoods. Clearly Germany wouldn't be talking so much about peace if she didn't want it badly, and it is clear it is not only peace but the plunder she has stolen. She can have peace at any moment by returning to her own country and can end the 'starvation campaign' by dropping the stolen goods."

"The pleas advanced by Germany are so preposterous that their inclusion is almost incredible," declared the Daily News. "The assertion that the lawlessness on the sea began with arbitrary measures taken by Great Britain will fall with a shock of amazement upon the ears of the nation which in February, 1915, issued a warning to Germany holding it to a 'strict accountability' for her acts."

The Times pointed out that Germany's complaint of use of colored troops in Europe comes "from the powers which have brought the Turks into Galicia."

TEMPORARY RAILROAD STATION IS OPENED

ASSEMBLYMAN MAY RESIGN

MONDOVI, Wis., Jan. 13.—Frank Schaeffle, member, Wisconsin assembly, who recently underwent an operation at Rochester, Minn., may resign his post, according to Mrs. Schaeffle.

Ever since the operation Schaeffle's health has been failing.

NEW HOTEL MANAGER

RACINE, Wis., Jan. 13.—J. S. Adrian, widely known as secretary and house manager of the Elks' club house, has tendered his resignation in order to take full charge of Hotel Racine.

Week Financial

NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—The weekly actual bank statement Saturday showed the following changes:

Surplus, increased, $40,997,180.

Loans, increased, $41,339,000.

Reserve in own vaults, increased, $47,338,000.

Reserve in federal reserve banks, increased, $14,308,000.

Reserve in other depositories, decreased, $885,000.

Net demand deposits, increased, $105,898,000.

Net time deposits, increased, $829,000.

Circulation, decreased, $149,000.

Aggregate reserve, $782,647,000.

NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—The New York Evening Sun financial review Saturday says. The outstanding feature in today's short session of the stock market was the utter absence of public interest and the almost complete stagnation. Outsiders are determined to stand aloof until there is some clearer conception of the peace situation.

Meanwhile, there is a turning away from the war stock in some measures and the so-called peace stocks are receiving more attention.

In the first hour of trading the turn-over was upward of 70,000 shares against better than 300,000 in yesterday's session. Price movements were narrow in the extreme and failed to indicate any definite trend whatever.

United States Steel reflected the movements on the industrial list and the railroads as well, or rather that portion in which there were any sales. The rails were even more neglected than the others.

The copper group was firm. There was some lazy backing and filling in the late trading, but prices changed with few exceptions.

Newspapermen Are Affected in New Rules for Secrecy

By CARL D. GROAT

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—A secret service system to keep tabs on the press is in effect at the state department under the new regime of utter secrecy according to numerous indications. Recent developments have tended to confirm the report that at least one man is assigned to ferret out where news tips and certain stories, displeasing to the administration, originate.

Peace—naturally a secret subject in the past—plus charges of an alleged leak to Wall Street on President Wilson's note, have served to put up the barriers for the press and with perhaps the greatest strictness of years.

Pitiless publicity has admittedly been cast aside.

Steps to enforce secrecy include: Hints to foreign embassies not to discuss certain subjects with reporters.

Rules preventing newspapermen from speaking to diplomats when arriving at or departing from the department.

Rules against giving advance information on engagements between the department and diplomats lest reporters inquire at the embassies before the visit as to why the conference is slated.

Strict orders from Secretary of State Lansing to subordinates not to discuss peace and many other matters. Inquiries on this line are met, for the most part, with the reply "The secretary is handling that—I can't talk about it."

Refusal of Secretary of State Lansing to discuss even confidentially or for guidance, except rarely, any developments in the peace situation. Orders to subordinates to give out no news except the merest routine.

The secret service regime is said to be in charge of a wealthy young diplomat. He is frequently in conference with a United States secret service and recently he has made anxious inquiries in an apparent effort to find out for the department where newspapermen get their news.

It is known that a suggestion has been made to install a licensing system for newspapermen, permitting only men, properly vouched for, to enter the building.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Jan. 13.—Frank E. Spaulding, superintendent of schools at Minneapolis, Minn., Saturday afternoon accepted the superintendency of Cleveland's schools for four years at $12,000 a year.

The Lesser Evil

"Don't you get awfully tired of taking part in all those theatrical performances?" the friend of the amateur actor once asked. "Yes, painfully tired," he replied, "for I don't like to act a bit. But I know that if I'm not on the stage I'll have to sit in the audience!"

Cheerful Surroundings

Uncle Josh—"Here's a letter from Nephew Harry, that's gone to Africa, and says that within 20 rods of his house there's a family of laughing hyenas." His Wife—"Well, I am glad he's got pleasant neighbors, anyway—that's something."—Tib-Bits.

EVERYBODY NEEDS
PURE, RICH BLOOD

Pure blood enables the stomach, liver and other digestive organs to do their work properly. Without it they are sluggish, there is loss of appetite, sometimes faintness, a deranged state of the intestines, and, in general, all the symptoms of dyspepsia.

Pure blood is required by every organ of the body for the proper performance of its functions. Hood's Sarsaparilla makes pure blood, and this is why it is so successful in the treatment of so many diseases and ailments. It acts directly on the blood, ridding it of scrofulous and other humors. It is a peculiar combination of blood-purifying, nerve-toning strength-giving substances. Get it today.

ANNOUNCE SECOND ANNUAL EXHIBIT OF CAMERA WORK

The public will recall the remarkable showing made last year by the different camera workers in the La Crosse Art association at their first annual exhibit, and will learn with pleasure that the second annual exhibit is now being planned for February, at the exhibit room of the public library.

Those wishing to exhibit their work should have it ready and in the hands of the exhibit committee by the end of this month. Mr. Carl Paul is chairman of this committee. Photographs may be submitted either to Mr. Rau of 321 South Eighth street, or to Mr. L. M. A. Roy of 1415 Vine street, or to the president of the Art association, (to whichever one is most convenient but preferably to the two former.) These pictures should not be less than 5 by 7 inches, should not be framed, as framed work raises difficult problems of hanging and mars the harmony of the exhibit, but should be mounted on plain, low toned mounts that can easily be obtained. Messrs. Rau and Roy, who have had wide experience along these lines, will gladly make suggestions or answer inquiries about enlarging, mounting, etc.

Owing to the smallness of our present exhibit quarters the association will confine itself again this year to the product of home camera workers, with possibly an exception or two. Later, when space is ampler and the treasury flusher, it will expect to invite various exhibitors outside La Crosse.

This ought soon to be done in order that we do not become too provincial and self-satisfied with our attainments. At all events, comparison with others in any line is always wholesome and safe. However, for the present the plan of seeing ourselves a second time is necessary, and perhaps wise. Second "annuals" are always most illuminating and interesting. The first photographic exhibit surprised and delighted us. It revealed us to ourselves; we hadn't surmised the presence among us of so much talent, and skill of so high an order. We were a bit overwhelmed and confused; this time we shall be judicial, discriminating and possibly more critical. Camera workers, you set us a standard last year, a high one; you showed us what good, artistic photography means. We are grateful for the instruction; but you also laid yourselves liable to our censure. We expect great things of you; yes, greater than you showed us last year; we expect growth. You have to "live up to your old blue china"—your reputation. We shall bring discrimination with us this year—and praise, too, we promise you, if you deserve it.

The invitation to exhibit is general; all camera workers are urged to submit their work to the committee. It is confidently expected that every one who exhibited work last year will again contribute his share to make a larger and better showing this time. This is your exhibit. Make it worthy. Besides we want to see your advance in this attractive art. Many last year were too timid to offer their work for exhibition and afterward expressed their regret, saying they would submit something this year. Don't wait for personal invitations; we do not know all of you. But you will find the committee, although skilled workers themselves, most generous and modest, glad to make suggestions from their wide experience to any beginners. This is the only way to grow; show your work along with others; some will be better than yours, some poorer; get in touch with other workers in your field and exchange ideas and stories of your experiences. The association expects many new exhibitors this year must show better and better exhibits—development in the art and a larger number of exhibitors.

Don't neglect this matter. Remember to have your work in the hands of the committee by the end of this month. The time of the exhibit will be announced later—sometime in February.

PRESIDENT A. A. L. C.
January 13, 1917.

Disciples Go Into Publicity Business

Disciples of Christ have decided to go into the publicity business. They have engaged a minister, believed to be also an excellent newspaper man, who is to enter at once upon the work of furnishing to daily newspapers Disciples news in accurate and interesting form. Thirty-four Disciples organizations are to be thus served, including all of the missionary societies, the unity commissions, and the Sunday schools. Prominent in the publicity work will be the Men and Millions project. The purpose of this project is to secure $6,000,000, of which more than $6,000,000 is reported to have been pledged to date.

Would Unite North and South Presbyterians

New York Presbytery has taken the lead in a movement to bring Presbyterians North and South together. An overture, as its resolution is called, has been adopted, to be presented at Dallas, Texas, next May, when the General Assembly meets, looking toward organic union, which are those employed by advocates of Methodist union, and the backers privately admit they are influenced not a little by the efforts of the general effort toward world union, and the particular plan of the Pope of Rome to make an approach to the Anglican communion. The leader in the New York effort just made is the Rev. William Pierson Merrill, formerly of Chicago, but now pastor of the Brick Church in that city.

Presbyterians say this is not the first move to bring north and south together. They say it is part of a Million Testaments Furnished Soldiers The World's Sunday School Association announces that its stint of 1,000,000 New Testaments to be furnished by Sunday school boys and girls of America, and given to soldiers in the war trenches of Europe, has been reached, and somewhat more. It also announces that the war not having ended it will enter upon the task of sending 1,000,000 more. The American Bible society, the Y. M. C. A. and others have cooperated. Many of the Testaments, or at least Scripture portions, cost less than five cents delivered in the hands of a soldier in a trench, and yet printing, paper and binding were excellent.

Fighters on both sides of the lines have been supplied with these books, governments assisting, and language in which books were printed included Bohemian, German, English, French, Dutch, Italian, Yiddish, Croat, Lett, Lithuanian, Polish, Ruman, Russian, Ruthen, Serbian, Slovak and Hungarian. A reason for giving Bible portions rather than entire New Testaments is that many more soldiers are served on a nickel, the limit of the gift of each American child.

THE HASKIN LETTER

Government Ship-Building

By Frederic J. Haskin
WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 13.
One of the most interesting features of the recent navy bill is the appropriation of six million dollars to equip United States navy yards with facilities for building battleships. Heretofore, the yards in New York and Mare Island have been the sole government constructors of battleships, but now Norfolk and Philadelphia are building them for the first time, and just as soon as conditions will permit the Boston and Puget Sound yards will be awarded contracts.
This measure is interesting not only because of the changes it will bring about in the navy yards, but because it shows that the statesmen of the nation recognized the positive need for preparedness—and for preparedness as soon as possible. Ever since the European War, the private shipbuilding yards throughout the country have been swamped with orders, both foreign and domestic, and the gentlemen who used to haunt the national capital for the purpose of obtaining government orders now have to be fairly coaxed to enter bids for naval contracts. They may, of course, be induced to build warcraft for Uncle Sam, but at advanced—very advanced—costs, and only after they have completed their European contracts, which number in the thousands. It was therefore perfectly apparent to congress that if the United States hoped to have a competent navy within the next ten years it would have to build the ships itself.

The most important necessity in battleship construction is space. A battleship is a large craft and requires a great deal of room in which to grow. At the present time, New York has space enough to build only one at a time. Boston is not large enough to accommodate a battleship, while Norfolk has space for four and Philadelphia as many as eight. In order to secure space in some of the yards it will be necessary to tear down whole buildings, the yard at Boston, for example, being cut in two.
Procuring workmen and installing machinery are the next problems. It is estimated that it takes three thousand men to build one battleship in its completed form, furnished and equipped with fighting apparatus, while the speed with which the work is executed depends largely on the efficiency of the machinery. Since the war, we have reliable information England completed a battleship in a little over a year, but with labor and material at their present state of scarcity in this country the best record we can hope for is three years. Not until the end of three years, then, are we likely to have any of the ten first-class battleships authorized by the navy bill.

In the meantime, the various navy yards affected by the measure are in a state of confusion and excitement. In the six yards that are to build battleships men and equipment are arriving daily. The executive offices are being enlarged and reorganized for handling the new work. Bids for new machinery and equipment must be requested; the old equipment must be used wherever possible; buildings must be cleared out in order to house the new supplies, and the whole business of battleship construction must be studied and worked out with a special view to two factors—speed and economy. At Mare Island the facilities are already well adapted to battleship construction and work is now going forward on one battleship, in addition to a fuel ship and four torpedo boat destroyers. At Norfolk, which has always specialized in mines, a great deal of readjustment is necessary, although Norfolk is not handicapped by lack of space, as in Boston. Boston is having a serious time. Philadelphia and Puget Sound are having comparatively few difficulties, owing to the fact that they have long built ships of goodly size.
Battleships, however, are not the only warcraft to be assigned the navy yards for construction. The new naval program includes a list of 157 vessels of various types—battle cruisers, scout cruisers, torpedo boat destroyers, submarines, ammunition ships, gunboats, etc.—many of which will have to be built by the government. These will be divided among the nine navy yards, according to their capacities. Portsmouth, which formerly manufactured ship's furniture, is now preparing to build auxiliaries, and important large war-craft contracts have been awarded both New Orleans and Charleston. The navy yards at Washington and Pensacola are not mentioned in connection with this special appropriation of six million dollars, since the former is really a gun factory and the latter an aeronautic station.

By June of next year, it is expected that every government shipbuilding yard will be working to its utmost capacity—a capacity that has been improved and augmented by the six million dollar fund—and at the end of five years we should have a navy that will be able to hold its own. According to the latest information, the American navy stands fourth on the naval list of the world. Great Britain, of course, has the largest navy, ranking first on the list. Germany comes next, France third, with a much smaller showing, and the United States fourth, with almost the same showing as France. Fifth on the list is Japan, with Russia a close seventh, and Italy and Austria following.
This was the standing of the navies of the world at the beginning of the war, although there was some doubt as to whether France or the United States should stand third. Since the war, the navy department, if it has any accurate information on the subject, refuses to disclose it. Ships of every belligerent nation have gone to the bottom in great numbers, but whether these have been more than replaced by the shipbuilding yards is unknown. From the number of foreign contracts placed in this country it is plain that the belligerents are not neglecting the strength of their navies, even though most of the fighting is being done on land. Germany, especially, it is believed, is using every opportunity to increase the size of her navy so as more nearly to equal that of England.
The navy department also declines to express an opinion as to just how far the present naval program will raise our naval standing among nations, but the officials make no secret of the fact that the bill has been a great relief, and the secretary is losing no time in putting it into effect. Neutrality is becoming more and more difficult; the maintenance of the Monroe doctrine is becoming more difficult; the protection of our citizens in foreign countries; the military control of the Panama Canal and our insistence on the open door in China—all the policies of the United States are proving difficult—and it is becoming rapidly apparent that the only way out is force. The president himself has sounded the warning in his speeches and proclamations. Under these circumstances it is nice to know that the navy yards of the nation are going to work night and day shifts if necessary in hurrying 157 war vessels on the road to completion.

"Coals to Newcastle."
"To carry coals to Newcastle" means to do something that is superfluous, Newcastle being a great coal field, carrying coals there would be a type of unnecessary action. The French have a saying "to carry water to the river" for the same thing, and there are several Latin equivalents.

Charges a Plot on Life of Governor in Preparedness Parade

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Jan. 13.—Charges that Thomas J. Mooney, Alexander Berkman, Eleanor Fitzgerald and their friends planned an attack on the life of Governor Hiram Johnson were made by the prosecution during Friday's session of the trial of Thomas J. Mooney on charge of complicity in the fatal preparedness day parade.

ANURIC, The Newest Discovery.

Oh! My Back!

When the kidneys are weak or diseased, these natural filters do not cleanse the blood sufficiently, and the poisons are carried to all parts of the body. There follow depression, aches and pains, heaviness, drowsiness, irritability, headaches, chilliness and rheumatism. In some people there are sharp pains in the back and loins, distressing bladder disorders and sometimes obstinate dropsy. The uric acid sometimes forms into gravel or kidney stones. When the uric acid affects the muscles and joints, it causes lumbago, rheumatism, gout or sciatica. This is the time to try "Anuric," the new discovery of Dr. Pierce for kidney trouble and pains in back and all over body! Write Dr. Pierce, send 10c for a large trial package—this will prove to you that "Anuric" is 37 times more potent than lithia and eliminates the uric acid from the system as hot water melts sugar—or ask your druggist now for a fifty-cent box of "Anuric."
Folks in town and adjoining counties are delighted with the results they have obtained by using "Anuric," the newest discovery of Dr. Pierce, who is head of the Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y. They daily voice their praises of the merits of "Anuric," the discovery of Dr. Pierce, of "Favorite Prescription" and "Golden Medical Discovery" fame. Here is a letter for instance, that of Mr. A. G. DRAKE. He says:
"I took one box of Dr. Pierce's Anuric Tablets for lame back and weak kidneys and was much benefited. My back commenced to get better soon after starting to take the tablets. I do not have to walk doubled over as I did before taking them. 'Anuric' is the best remedy I have ever taken for what it is intended for. I hope those who are in need of such a remedy will give the 'Anuric' Tablets a trial."
Just step into the drug store and ask for "Anuric," 50 cents, or send Doctor Pierce 10 cents for trial package.

OUIMET'S HOPES OF REINSTATEMENT UTTERLY BANISHED

U. S. Golf Association Votes 77 to 14 to Uphold Its Drastic Rules

BY H. C. HAMILTON
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)
NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—The forlorn hope that Francis Ouimet, Brooklyn golfer, who defeated Vardon and Ray, the English stars, might yet be saved to amateur golf, was blasted early Saturday, following action by the United States Golf Association in upholding every point of its drastic rules.

The vote of the body to stand by its rulings was 77 to 14, such a majority that it is deemed almost certain that Ouimet may as well lay aside his clubs for all the good they will ever do him in amateur play. John H. Sullivan, Jr., and Paul Tewksbury, two other Boston players, also will be placed in the professional class.

The golf association upheld that part of its definition of professionalism which places in that class all players who help lay out golf courses and receive pay for it.

New Railroad To Run Through Grant County

Thomas McDonald of Lancaster, A. R. Burkhardt of Chicago and C. Van Voorst of Indianapolis are soliciting for the sale of stock for the proposed new railroad to be known as the Wisconsin and Illinois railroad, to pass through Grant County, Wis., southeastward into Illinois.

Sentiment is very favorable for the project, and the first week's work has been so successful that the feeling prevails that the required amount, $150,000 can be raised.

Equally successful results have been obtained at Lancaster and are expected at Patch Grove, Mt. Hope and Beetown, through which towns the road will pass.

—This In Passing

Nebraska will play Syracuse next year instead of accepting other dates offered, giving as a reason that Syracuse's prominence will draw more persons at the gate. This proves again that there is nothing commercial in college athletics.

Garry Herrmann ought to get away fine as a peace maker between the allies and the central powers.

An amateur is a man who doesn't capitalize his profession, says a recent definition. Any interpretation that will suit your ends is permissible.

Dr. Sputh goes to Indianapolis for private practice. Meinert will be physical director in the Oshkosh high school; Grounds goes to Fulton, N. Y., in a similar capacity in the public and high schools and Hoepfner takes up a like position in the schools of Ticonderoga, N. Y.
